

The Department of English, The School of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences, REVA University is organizing a TWO-DAY Multi-disciplinary Conference on 27th and 28th of March, 2024.

About the Conference:

The realm of Education is currently experiencing a significant metamorphosis, driven by the integration of Artificial Intelligence (AI). This transformative shift is the focal point of the concept note, which aims to scrutinize the prevailing trends and challenges arising at the dynamic intersection of Artificial Intelligence in Education and Humanities.

As the conference brings together a diverse array of perspectives, it becomes a crucible for the synthesis of ideas and the formulation of strategies to address the evolving landscape of AI in education. The discussions are poised to shape the future of education, with a keen focus on optimizing the potential of Artificial Intelligence to enhance teaching methodologies, improve learning outcomes, and address the multifaceted challenges confronting the educational ecosystem.
