The National Science Day 2024 event was organized by the School of Allied Health Sciences in collaboration with the School of Applied Sciences. The event, themed "Science for a Sustainable Future," took place on 27th and 28th February 2024, and it was a resounding success thanks to the enthusiastic participation of students and the support of our esteemed guests. Throughout the two-day event about 200 students were attended, and 60 to 70 students participated in the events. We hosted a series of engaging activities aimed at fostering scientific curiosity and promoting awareness of sustainability issues. These activities included Collage competitions, Pictionary challenges, and more, which saw enthusiastic participation from students representing various departments.

In addition to the interactive sessions, we also organized enlightening talks on emerging research areas delivered by eminent personalities in the field of science. These sessions provided valuable insights into the latest advancements and stimulated discussions on pressing scientific challenges. Moreover, to provide a hands-on experience, we arranged lab demonstrations and displayed models and posters showcasing innovative research projects. These exhibitions not only showcased the ingenuity of our students but also inspired others to explore the realms of science further. We extend our sincere gratitude to everyone who contributed to making National Science Day 2024 a memorable and impactful event. Together, we reaffirmed our commitment to harnessing the power of science for a sustainable future.
